

JAMES

The Priorities of a
Scattered Church

James 4:11-17
Don't Insult God

A black and white line drawing of dandelions. On the left, three dandelions are shown in various stages of growth, with their heads and stems clearly defined. On the right, several dandelion heads are shown in flight, with their seeds blowing away, scattered across the upper half of the page.

1. We insult God when we talk bad about other Christians. (4:11-12)

James 4:11-17
Don't Insult God

A black and white line drawing of a dandelion seed head on the left, with several seeds blowing away to the right. The seeds are depicted as small, dark, teardrop-shaped heads with long, thin, radiating lines representing the pappus. The background is plain white.

2. We insult God when we talk big about the future. (4:13-17)

James 4:11-17
Don't Insult God